Sinclair Jurors Will Attempt To Identify Detectives

15 SLEUTHS HERDED INTO COURTHOUSE

Two Talesmen Claim They Were Accosted By Men Seeking Hint of Attitude

10 WITNESSES CALLED

Government Attorneys Assert They Have Discovered Source of Money

By HERBERT LITTLE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Twelve Fall-Sinclair jurors were asked today to confront the 15 Burns detectives who shadowed them during the late conspiracy trial.

This move is part of a government effort to identify the actors in the espionage system as reported to the investigating grand jury by the jurors. Two jurors say they were actually approached.

All 15 sleuths were congregated today in the courthouse where the jury tampering investigation is taking place.

Some evidence found as a result of the stories of the two jurors, John J. Costinett and Gardner P. Grenfell, that they were mysteriously questioned, has been kept secret by the grand jury and government investigators.

Ten Witnesses Appear
Ten witnesses, including seven of the Burns detectives, appeared before the grand jury.

Government attorneys said they have established an important detail in the conspiracy case against Harry Sinclair and others in showing that some $1865 was brought into Washington from Baltimore at the opening of the surveillance. The usual channel would have been to obtain funds.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—Police today searched for a store bandit who last night took refuge from a charge of buckshot behind a 14-year-old girl. The girl, Gladys Uriel, was seriously wounded.

The bandit robbed the store of Marino Cordellis and was fleeing when Cordellis, seizing a shotgun, called to him to stop. Instead the bandit leaped behind the girl as Cordellis fired. The bandit escaped.

Retention Of Levy In New Bill Expected

Lobby Charges Place Ways and Means Body in Hostile Attitude

BY PAUL R. MALLON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The house ways and means committee apparently intends to retain in its new revenue bill the federal estate tax frowned on by the White House and treasury.

Poll of the committee today indicated sentiment two to one in favor of the existing levy permitting states to tax up to 80 per cent of the federal law, thereby seeking uniformity of state levies on inheritances.

Charges that a wealthy lobby is seeking repeal, coupled with defense of the existing system by Republican Chairman Green and the Democratic tax leader, Representative Garner, Texas, have placed the committee in a hostile attitude toward the treasury recommendations.

FILM STARS' BEACH HOMES ARE LOOTED

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 9.—Beach homes of film celebrities in the exclusive Malibu district near here have been looted of thousands of dollars worth of furnishings and clothing by a daring bandit gang, the sheriff's office learned today.

Local residents, Warner Baxter, Neil Hamilton and other prominent motion picture people were among the thieves' victims, it was said.

Although the burglaries are believed to have been committed between October 7 and October 28, no report was made until today.

TRI-STATE RIVER CONFERENCE OPENS

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 9.—The tri-state conference on Colorado river problems opened here today with delegates striving to reach an agreement on the amount of profit Arizona and Nevada are to be allowed on the proposed federal hydro-electric plant at Boulder dam.

California and Nevada delegates were in attendance at today's informal session in the room of one of the representatives, but the Arizona river committee had not yet arrived here.

Little headway in settling the power revenue question was made, it was said, as the discussion was of a preliminary nature.

College Students Face Booze Charge

AMES, Ia., Nov. 9.—Six members of the Sigma Chi fraternity chapter at Iowa State college here faced charges of violation of the prohibition laws today.

FRUSTRATE SOVIET CONSULATE BLAST

A strong cordon of police now surrounds the consulate. Trouble is feared.

Wells Denies His Divorce Connected With Mrs. Lowry's

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 9.—Charlamagne E. Wells, New York art critic, vigorously denied here today that his action for divorce, instituted in Nogales, Sonora, Mexico, was in any way connected with similar proceedings filed in the Mexican town by Aya Lowry, New York society woman, about the same time.

"We laughed about it at the same time," he said. "Arthur Del Torro, a New York attorney, who sponsored the Sonora divorce law, represented us both and we thought people might link our names. However, such is not the case and she had returned to New York."

Child Seriously Injured By Auto

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 9.—Struck down by an automobile while at play, Virginia Besser, 9, was in a critical condition in the Sacramento hospital today.

Paris Tightens Divorce Procedure

(By United Press)

PARIS, Nov. 9.—French judicial authorities launched today their long threatened campaign to tighten up the friendly procedure that has made Paris the world divorce capital.

"I am holding up petitions of American women for divorce until the court has made certain that the domicile of the parties concerned really is Paris," announced the chief justice of the divorce court today.

Surprised At Market

He said he did not see why the 164,000-bale increase noted today over last month should cause a drop in the market and was greatly surprised at the fluctuation after the final production was out.

Census reports made public simultaneously show 9,925,795 running bales, counting round as half bales, ginned from the crop of 1927 prior to November 1, compared with 11,258,873 for 1926.

The forecast today is 164,000 bales, or about one per cent above the forecast of a month ago and 5,135,000 bales below production last year.

The department announced generally warm dry weather in October permitted rapid gathering of the crop with less than usual loss to yield and quality.

Less Loss From Pot

Furthermore, "Bolls damaged by weevils have matured with less loss from rot than is usually experienced," said the report. "Prospects have improved most in Alabama, Mississippi and Oklahoma, but increases in these states are partly offset by a substantial decrease in the forecast for Texas."

According to reports from growers, the price paid for picking this season has averaged $1.12 per hundred pounds of seed cotton, compared with $1.11 last year.

The department also announced cotton production in foreign countries, as reported to date, is 1,403,

PRISON TERMS FOR RUMANIA CAROLISTS

BUCHAREST, Nov. 9.—Coincident with the imposition of a drastic censorship, parliament today passed a law prescribing five to 10-year sentences for anyone who discusses the question of succession to the throne.

The government hopes the law will suppress the movement in favor of former Crown Prince Carol and will prevent opposition leaders from reviving their demands that Carol be made king or that the regency under which his son, Michael, now rules, be abolished.

On October 19, a native report was received and published in the United States which told a graphic story of the two aviators fighting gallantly against odds after their plane crashed on a mountainside.

It was said that the aviators took possession of a small hillside house near their plane and fought desperately until their ammunition was exhausted.

Then, natives declared, rebels rushed the house and threw dynamite bombs through the windows, badly wounding both flyers.

Authorities have been unable to confirm this report.

Marines seeking the aviators are encountering strong rebel bands who retire only after fighting stubbornly.

Ohio's Anti-Saloon League Suffers Defeat as Dry Measure Snowed Under

OF-YEAR elections held in 31 states yesterday failed to give politicians much of an indication of what they may expect a year from now, when a new president is elected.

Reverses were few, scattered and unimportant as far as national issues were concerned.

In New York and Mississippi, the two states where observers thought they might get some little information as to the strength of Alfred E. Smith, governor of New York, as a presidential candidate, Smith seemed still strong, although the Republicans gained heavily in New York state assembly.

MORE THAN 2000 WATCH BIG NEW REGISTER PRESS DURING OPEN HOUSE TUESDAY NIGHT

The Register's new press was running. Its rumble and pound shook the entire building and blotted out all other noises. The click-click-click of the telegraph machines, the scurry-scurry-scurry of typewriters, the clang-clang-clang of the Mergenthaler linotype machines, were as though they never existed, and the men in the newsroom, at their typewriter desks, and the linotype operators, were all moving in the weird silence which is the heart of noise.

It was quiet night in the Register office, and more than 2000 interested Santa Anans and others entered the wide front doorway, to enter their names on the callers' register, and then pass into the very heart of newspaper making, the mechanical department, gaze respectfully at the almost human machines which reach their long arms into the lead pot and after a magic fashion, create letters and words; then on to the stereotype department and finally into the hole of holes, the room where the great press thundered majestically on.

Then they were guided into the less spectacular but equally important news room on the second floor, with its tributary departments, the photographer's rooms, and one of the most interesting things of all—the graphic-printer which receives and transcribes the news of the world for Register readers, with no human agency visible.

"Well! I have a lot more respect for a newspaper than I ever had before!" ejaculated one pleasant-faced woman as she watched the intricate processes.

"Huh! I supposed that those mats as they call them, were what the paper was printed from," said a man who had watched the stereotypist's swift movements with fascinated eyes.

"So that's the way they print the stories about my travels, is it?" asked the oldest visitor with much interest. He was W. H. Zimmerman, 210 West First street, and whose nearly 92 years sit so lightly on his shoulders, that he is one of Santa Ana's most noted travelers.

If Mr. Zimmerman was the oldest visitor at the Register's "open house," the youngest was tiny Frederick Verlin Hurst, five months old, who gazed wide-eyed at the noisy machines, and had a friendly baby smile for everyone who paused to speak to him and chuck him under the chin. Master Frederick is the baby son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Hurst, 2031 Bush street, and was unusually free from fear of the noisy machines.

In the intervals of silence which came when the press chanced to stop for a moment, comments were varied indeed. "Slugs?" queried one guest in amazed interest as she was shown the little ledgers product of the linotype's art. "Slugs? Well! I'm glad that kind don't attack my rose bushes."

"There will be no more complaints from me at a minor mistake in the paper," said another. "I never dreamed it was so complicated. I wonder that anything is ever right."

"I've often watched them unloading those rolls of paper and I supposed one roll would last at least a week," commented a certain business man watching the press consume three rolls at once.

"Gee! I wish our town had a press like that!" came from a sparkling eyed little lad who looked like he might be a dozen years old, and had been gazing fascinatedly at the press for a long time. "I'd like to have seen it being put together," said his companion—both boys evidently from one of the neighboring towns of the county. For if there were any boys in Santa Ana who had not watched the process of assembling the parts and building the press, 10 one on the Register force had missed them.

So it went through the evening, from 6 o'clock, when the first caller arrived, to 10:30, when the last one was ushered out of the plant, and the weary day force might say good-night, leaving the Register to its usual nighty repose with only the staff of linotypists getting out the happenings of the later afternoon and evening, in readiness for the next day's papers.

FIREMEN PLAN ANNUAL DANCE NOVEMBER 14

If a city fireman comes running into your place of business within the next few days, don't get excited and reach for the water bucket for the building probably will be as free from fire as a water cooler, and the fireman merely wants to sell you a ticket to the annual firemen's ball.

The date for the dance has been set for next Monday night, November 14 and from the plans that are being carried out, this year's hop is going to be a "wow," according to Assistant Chief Sid Kimball, who has active charge of the festivities.

Chapman's seven piece orchestra will furnish the music for the occasion and confetti, and souvenirs of all kinds will be dispensed from serpentine to whistles, Kimball said. Punch will be served by Chief John Luxembourg, who has had the job as chief server for the past number of years.

Hundreds of tickets already have been sold for the dance but not as many as last year and for that reason these last few days will see a campaign conducted on the part of the firemen to sell the remainder.

Last year 600 persons attended the dance and efforts will be made to increase that number by at least 100 this year, it was aid.

The firehall is being cleaned up "slicker than ever" for the dance and the lower floor and part of the street in front of the building will be as fast as any ballroom in Southern California, the firemen promise.

SHERIFF DUMPS 1000 GALLONS OF LIQUOR OUT

Almost 1000 gallons of Christmas cheer, in the form of grain alcohol, beer, wine and whiskey left Santa Ana for Huntington Beach yesterday afternoon — via the sewer.

The occasion was one of Sheriff Sam Jernigan's regular "pouring out parties" and was staged at the man hole in the front yard of the court house building.

Jernigan's stock rooms had become overcrowded and it was necessary to dump some of the liquor to make room for more that may be captured at any time, it was said.

Several cases of beer, five and one gallon jugs of whiskey and wine made up the remainder of the contraband that was taken.

Chapman's seven piece orchestra will furnish the music for the occasion and confetti, and souvenirs of all kinds will be dispensed from serpentine to whistles, Kimball said. Punch will be served by Chief John Luxembourg, who has had the job as chief server for the past number of years.

AIRLINE TO SOUTH AMERICA PROPOSED

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—A proposal to link the continents of North and South America by an airline carrying passengers, express and mail has been brought up by the organization of the Atlantic, Gulf and Caribbean Airlines, Inc., headed by Percy A. Rockefeller.

The company, incorporated under the laws of Delaware, has bought up the controlling interest and is now the holding company of Pan-American airways.

Because of the uncertainty of regular traffic on American airways and the unsoundness of depending solely on this business at the present time, the program of linking up the two continents will wait upon the organization of air mail business between the two Americas.

YOUNG BOY SAYS MOTHER SLAYER

NYATTSVILLE, Md., Nov. 9.—From the lips of her 7-year-old son, Robert, came words which have resulted in holding Sarah Marie Hartley of Bladensburg, Md., on a charge of murdering her husband.

Mrs. Hartley contends she fired by accident, after drawing a pistol in self defense against Robert Hartley, who returned to their home several nights ago to end an estrangement.

Robert said he was in the room with his parents and saw his mother take the gun from a pantry shelf and fire after the husband suggested moving to an apartment.

KIDNAPERS SLAY MOTORIST'S WIFE

WAUKESHA, Wis., Nov. 9.—Alvan Greenwald reported to police that two men in an automobile had attacked him and kidnapped his wife, who later was found slain by the roadside.

Greenwald, a bus driver, said that while he and his wife were driving two miles east of here they heard what sounded like a siren. They pulled to the side of the road to permit the other car to pass them. Two men jumped out of the other car, beat him and carried Mrs. Greenwald away, he said.

Passing autoists brought Greenwald here. His wife's body was found 15 miles west of Waukesha.

SANTA ANA JUNIOR C. OF C. TO ASK FOR NEW AGREEMENT WITH SENIOR ORGANIZATION

Dissatisfaction of the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce over conditions existing between its organization and the senior chamber of commerce came to a head at a general meeting of the younger group Monday night at Ketner's cafe. A committee was appointed to meet with directors of the senior organization for the purpose of rearranging the financial plan between the two groups and to provide for raising the age limit of the junior chamber of commerce members. It was hinted at the meeting that if things were not satisfactorily arranged a split between the two civic bodies might result.

Harry Westover was appointed chairman of the committee which will call on the senior chamber of commerce directors. Westover is assisted by an advisory board composed of Ridley Smith, Paul Ragan, W. Floyd Croddy, James Anderson, Cecil Featherly, Bruce Switzer and L. R. Crawford. "Bob" Fernandez, president of the junior chamber of commerce instructed the committee to hold at least two meetings and outline a definite plan before appearing before the senior chamber directors.

It was the unanimous opinion of the members at the meeting last night that some move be taken to correct the present condition between the two groups. L. R. Crawford in a short address on the motion declared that an arrangement should be made whereby the junior organization receives all of its dues instead of only half as at the present time. A different plan of co-operation between the two bodies was also suggested.

Crawford declared that up until the time the junior chamber of commerce amalgamated with the senior organization the young group was one of the most influential organizations in Santa Ana civic life. He declared that the amalgamation of the organizations proved merely to be a subjugation of the interests of the junior chamber of commerce to promote unity among the civic organizations of the city, and that the combination proved merely a boomerang on the junior group.

"The condition has now reached a point where we must do something or disband and form a new organization," Crawford declared.

Most of the meeting was given over to a discussion of the general apathy of the members. It was pointed out that although the junior chamber of commerce has more than 120 members there are seldom more than 30 at any meeting.

H. Bowen, D. S. Lemon and Cerrick Brown were appointed on a committee to visit J. Frank Burke, editor of The Register and ask for a representative to attend future meetings and for the support of The Register in civic movements sponsored by the organization.

The committee was instructed to issue an invitation to Mr. Burke and to the staff of The Register to attend the next meeting of the junior chamber of commerce.

Automobile dealers of Santa Ana who were supposed to be guests of the organization at the meeting last night were not present and will be at the next meeting.

Berle Morthland was chairman of the program committee.

A recommendation of the junior chamber directors that meetings be changed to include only one general meeting and one directors meeting each month instead of the two directors and two general meetings now held was not approved by the members. The meetings will continue as they have in the past.

Sam Hurwitz, local merchant spoke briefly on the "Functions of the Toastmaster's Club." Entertainment features were furnished by "Beebe" Burman, of Coffee Dan's Cafe in Los Angeles and Frank Richardson, jazz singer from a local theater.

Heirs of Kasper Burhart, owner of the property, filed claim for the amount, declaring it was part of $4000 buried by Burhart and which never had been found.

Smith was appointed administrator by the probate court and ordered to hold the money pending the estate settlement.

KEEP STOMACH YOUNG!

Eat What You Want

When the food you eat goes into your acid-soaked stomach, it sours and can't digest, makes foul gas and sour bile. The blood takes these poisonous acids and carries them through the body. Naturally it makes you miserable and dependent, because your system is not nourished—you lose weight.

Pape's Diapepsin dissolves the acids and sweetens the stomach. It digests the food; no more sour bile is taken up by the blood. Your appetite is like a youngster's again, and gradually you get back your health, flesh and energy.

Chew a tablet or two of Pape's Diapepsin after meals. It tastes good, and relieves the misery of indigestion in five minutes. It will keep your stomach young and vigorous so you can eat anything you want without being afraid of the consequences.

FARM NEWS

LEGIONNAIRES TO TAKE PART IN FIRE TOUR

Representatives of the Orange and Santa Ana posts of the American Legion will take part in the forestry field tour November 19. The posts have offered their cooperation to the farm bureau and the forestry department in the formation of a trained crew to assist in forest fire fighting, and the tour affords them an opportunity to look over their new battle field in time of peace.

The crew leader organization is being formed by the farm bureau with the assistance of the forest officials who will assist in its direction. They will supplement the forest rangers work, holding themselves in readiness for service at call.

The tour has been arranged by the farm bureau to acquaint these voluntary fire fighters as well as the general public with the importance of forestry work to protect the county's water supply.

The motorcade will leave the hall of records at 9 a.m. Saturday morning. Those coming from the northern part of the county may meet the group at the Orange County park at 9:30 a.m. From this point a trip touching interesting and important phases of the water shed has been arranged. At various stops specialists will explain the whys and wherefores and the trip includes a ranger lunch at the Black Star canyon, as well as a trip over the new $25,000 fire protection road.

FATTEN POULTRY NOW, EXPERT URGES

Early autumn is the time poultry raisers will find advantageous to fatten and dispose of surplus cockerels as well as early hatched pullets of a quality not desired in the flock of winter layers, according to the farm bureau. Market poultry prices are usually highest just before Thanksgiving and Christmas. Another advantage in selling surplus stock fairly early in the season is in the saving of food material.

Dr. M. A. Jull, poultry husbandman, United States department of agriculture, recommends as a fattening ration a soft mash, measured by weight, composed of corn, four parts; oatmeal, two parts; middlings, two parts, and beef scrap, one part. The ground grain should be mixed thoroughly and moistened with sour skim milk or buttermilk. Milk is excellent in fattening mixtures, and about two pounds, or a quart, of milk is used to each pound of mash, he says.

Care should be taken not to feed the birds too much during the early part of the fattening period.

For the first few days of this diet feed lightly three times a day, he urges. For the rest of the period give the birds all they will eat three times a day, but do not leave it before them. A four-pound cockerel should add a pound in two weeks. Four pounds of the grain ration may produce a pound of gain.

Experienced fatteners sometimes keep poultry on the fattening feed as long as three weeks but in most commercial fattening plants the birds are fattened for from seven to 10 days. There is often a difference of five cents a pound between the market price of thin and plump birds. However, farmers in many parts of the country may not find such advantageous marketing opportunities, and the prices received may not pay for the expense and bother of fattening the birds, he says.

Dairy SHOW TO OPEN NEXT WEEK

The opening of the Pacific Slope dairy show at Oakland next week provides an attraction that will draw dairymen, distributors, plant manufacturers and many others from all over California and many of the western states. It is the last big dairy show of the season and consequently only the best in the dairy world will be shown.

It is understood that several of the local creameries entered milk exhibits in competition with the rest. Probably a bull owned by Segerstrom brothers will be entered in the Frank Peillissier herd, the animal being purchased from Peillissier.

Of especial interest to those attending will be the dairy dinner November 17 and the conference of cattle experts November 18, called by Dr. J. P. Iverson. George Hecke is scheduled to make the opening address in this conference.

In years past quite a number of dairymen and creamery men have attended from this county and no doubt several will make the trip again.

Seed Selection Field Subject At S. A. Ranch

Two of the most important cultural problems facing the sweet potato growers of Orange county are those of disease prevention and the selection of seed. The two are very closely connected and the proper practice of the latter will go a long way toward the elimination of certain diseases. These problems will be the subject of a field meeting to be held at the W. O. Eades ranch at the corner of West Fifth street and Newhope road, Santa Ana, Thursday, at 10 a.m.

Another subject which will be discussed briefly will be that of fertilizers. There is not much subject matter on which to go in this county, but the results obtained in Los Angeles county will be discussed, and possibly plans will be laid to carry on further test plots in this county.

Everyone who is interested is invited to attend this field meeting, which will be conducted by the agricultural extension service.

"Our equipment, including beds, bedding, linens, wheel chair, linen cabinet, scales, chairs, bed-tables, pan, and other disinfecting receptacles, totaling about $600 investment, is very complete, is paid for, and is the association's property," Riley says in his report. "Arrangements were made for a room at the Orange county hospital and all of our patients are treated there. Three years ago, an organization was formed of the medical and surgical men of our county and these men perform all the services rendered by our association. Every branch of the medical profession is serving our association, and the physicians so serving are specialists in their particular lines. We are fortunate in having the services available of Drs. Gallant and Schott, orthopaedic specialists, who have served with the largest institutions and the best men in Los Angeles for many years past."

Meets All Needs

"The thought uppermost in our minds all the time is the patient, and our attitude has been to do the things needed to properly care for our little charges, regardless of expense. If proper equipment was not available here, then the patient was taken where it could be properly cared for. There never has been a case coming to our attention that we could not satisfactorily treat, and I present the above so you will understand what our attitude would be if a situation presented itself which we felt was beyond us."

"One patient who had never attended a day school in his life, was one of our first patients, and he has been treated at an expense to us of around $2000. He is now going to school, being trained to make two grades in one year. After he has passed the fourth grade, we have arranged his vocational training in the shoemaking trade school near Gardena, so that he will be self-supporting, and not a load on society during his life time."

"Our association is non-sectarian in its activities. It matters not the creed or color of the child needing help. They all look alike in this respect."

"I made a trip to the San Fernando valley a few days ago to look into the merits of Ladino clover as a green feed for poultry, as I had heard so much about it."

"I visited several poultry ranches and saw the clover growing in different stages. I was told that at this time of the year it was very easy to start, either by sowing broadcast or in drills about 10 inches apart, and very lightly covered."

"The clover grows to about 10 inches high, has large leaves and white blossoms, both the stalk and leaves are very tender, and they told me there was no waste as in alfalfa as the birds devour it entirely and seem to prefer it to any other green food."

CITY COUNCIL TAKES STEPS TO WIDEN SEVERAL STREETS IN SANTA ANA IN FUTURE

Adopting a resolution of intention embodying the point, the city council Monday night took definite action in establishing set back lines on East and West First, East and West Seventeenth and North and South Main streets, with a view later to widening these thoroughfares.

Widening of the streets by taking ten feet from each side is the contemplation of the city governing body. That the council would adopt such a resolution was indicated at a recent meeting, when it was revealed that legal steps had not been taken to establish a set-back line on these streets.

The program for widening South Main street will interfere with plans of Harry D. Riley for erection of a garage building on the southeast corner of Main and Myrtle streets, it was revealed to the council when Riley appeared before the body for a permit to construct the building.

Riley completed purchase of the 125x150 foot lot only Thursday of last week, and informed the council last night that he did not know at the time of plans the council has for broadening South Main street. He had prepared plans for a building covering the full lot.

Riley announced his willingness to comply with the set back line, but when he came to make further investigations he discovered that a foot of the rear of his lot was used as an alley—undecided but permanently established, possibly, by long usage.

"I do not object to reducing the size of my building to conform to plans of the city council, but if I have also to lose nine feet on the rear it will reduce my floor space severely," Riley said, in pointing out that even with the building he contemplates he would have to have a warehouse for storage of Studebaker cars.

Suggestion was made by City Attorney C. D. Swanner that Riley's easiest and quickest way out of the dilemma so far as it concerns the alley was to bring suit to quiet title to that portion of his property now used as an alley. He intimated he would follow the suggestion.

As garages are listed under "special uses" in the zoning ordinance, the city engineer was directed to post the vicinity notifying property owners that application had been made for permission to erect a garage building on the corner. The council and city planning commission will conduct a joint hearing on the application Monday night.

Application was made for reclassification of lots at the southwest corner of Cypress avenue and McFadden street to permit the construction of four duplex houses and eight garages. The property is in the residence zone. The applicant is W. H. Dixon. The council and planning commission will hear protests to the application at a joint meeting of the bodies Monday night.

The Santa Ana Cleaners and Dyers were granted permission to install a 1000 gallon gasoline tank at 518 North Artesia street.

Building Inspector

H. F. Fuller was appointed building inspector to succeed W. S. Decker. Fuller is an architect and has been employed in the city engineer's office.

Permission was given Rueben Kaufmann to establish a pool hall at 915 Stafford street in a building yet to be erected.

Protest of E. J. Eaton to a charge of $10 for clearing weeds from a portion of a lot on West Seventeenth street was referred to the city manager.

Plans and specifications were adopted for paving portions of Grand avenue and South Parton streets.

TROTZKY ATTEMPT

PARIS, Nov. 9.—The famous dictionary being prepared by the Academie Francaise is about half done after fifty years of work and this first part will be published soon. The Academie has the world's record for slowness. In the three centuries of its existence its one continuous job has been the official French dictionary which itself is rarely seen, but which serves as the basis for other similar and more condensed works.

The first edition of the dictionary was started in 1688 and was published 56 years later. Subsequent editions usually were issued in sections, as will be the present one.

Each time many new words are accepted, but by the time the academie finishes a section many of the accepted words become obsolete. At each session one or more words are discussed by the academicians and the public gets much amusement out of some decisions, such as the recent refusal to admit the word "midinet," the popular description of the little Parisian working girl. The aged scholars thought the name a flippant colloquialism.

Santa Ana will plunge into another busy week of football tomorrow afternoon, a collision at 3 o'clock between the Pasadena and Poly Class B (130-pound) elevens here being the first of four games to be played by high school or junior college squads.

The Bulldog "Bees" will come to Poly field unbeaten after four starts and tied with Long Beach for first place. Santa Ana is hopelessly out of the titular competition but has a dangerous offense that might cause the league-leaders uncomfortable moments.

Coach Clyde Cook sent his lighties through a strenuous scrimmage with L. W. Archer's Frances Willard junior high school squad yesterday and ran up a 25 to 7 count on the North Main street troupe. The junior high eleven scored first on a long forward pass but the "Bees" poured in four touchdowns before time was called.

Cook used Boyle and Caps at ends, Blair, Vegely and Vance at tackles, Maxwell, Woodhouse and Williams at guards, Johnston at center, Hilligass and Rimel at quarter, Pennix and Case at halves and Fletchers at full.

Poly's starting lineup against Pasadena probably will include Boyle and Watkins at ends, Dixon and Crane at tackles, Speer and Farver at guards and Meacham at center. Hilligass, Hales, Pennix and Captain Smith will be in the backfield.

Santa Ana high school is not leading the Coast Preparatory league in games won and lost but Coach "Tex" Oliver has the most dangerous offensive eleven in the circuit, if figures mean anything.

In four league games, Santa Ana has accumulated a total of 56 points, more than any other school. The leaders are all bunched, however, and some may displace the Polytites this week. Long Beach, fourth on the list, being only 11 points behind the locals.

Smashing Jim Musick, the big plunger and plow man of the Santa Ana backfield, continues to rank right with the leaders in individual point making. Musick made one touchdown in the Glendale tiff two weeks ago, bringing his season's total to 24.

Bill Mittelstedt, captain of the Long Beach and Jim Musick Long Beach squad, rolled up four touchdowns against the weak South Pasadena defense and went into first position with 36 digits. Al Cox, Pasadena halfback, is third with 22 points. Captain Mohler, Alhambra, who was leading the lists last week, dropped to fourth when he was unable to participate in the game with Pasadena.

Santa Ana's argument with Pasadena will be the week's choice in the Coast Preparatory loop but that affray at San Diego between the Hilltoppers and Long Beach will be well worth watching.

Long Beach, tied twice, still remains one of the most dangerous title-hunters and it would be to the locals' advantage to have the border city men emerge victorious. The Hares, however, hold an edge on the dope and figure to win after a hard game.

Other league games will match South Pasadena and Whittier at Whittier and Glendale and Alhambra at Alhambra. First team standings follow:

BOUTS AT H. B. DON REGULARS SHIFTED FROM BACK IN FOLD FRIDAY NIGHT FOR NEXT TILT

This week's boxing program at the Huntington Beach Athletic club will be held tomorrow night instead of Friday on account of the American Legion Armistice day celebration at Fullerton. Promoter "Red" Hamilton announced today.

The headliner will be offered by young Wendell Long and Pablo Martinez. The boys will weigh in at 120 pounds. The fans usually get their money's worth in any fight that Long has anything to do with. Martinez is fast but not fast enough to stop Long, followers of the beach fights believe.

Claude McDowell will meet Spike Palmerston at 150 pounds in the semi-windup while the special event will see Venice Hatch and Tony Sheffler mix it at 135 pounds.

The curtain raiser is set at 118 pounds and between Clifford Hubbard and Eddie Beebe. This match is billed as a "grudge," according to Hamilton. The second spot goes to Bob Merton and Pat Jacobson, both Huntington Beach boys. Toby Young, younger brother of a family of fighters will fight it out with Perry Thompson in the third fight of the evening.

Likes GREEN MEN
Bill Roper, Princeton coach, likes green men on his team as he says such men will do as they are told.

SAFETY—The Washington Huskies, stung by their defeat at the hands of Stanford last Saturday, were to leave today for Berkeley to meet the California Bears. Thirty men and six coaches were scheduled to make the trip.

WEST POINT—Light workouts will be undergone special practice in offensive formations, designed for use against the Navy Saturday. The regulars were to be used on the defensive against Navy plays today.

BRIDGEPORT, Mass.—Coach Arnold Norween is in uniform playing in the backfield in an effort to assist with the Harvard elevator for the game with Brown. With the exception of Bell and Stewart, all of the members of the squad have reported for drill.

PALE ALTO—There will be no rest for the Stanford Cardinals until they have played the California Bears a week from Saturday. Coach "Pop" Warner said today.

Survival of the fittest, however, are still the guidelines followed by the expected forward passing machine is stressed.

EVANSTON, Ill.—Northwestern's quest for victory against Indiana Saturday have been considerably rightened by the return to the line of "Lewy" Lewis, backfield star. Lewis, the regulars, however, are still on the disabled list.

MINNEAPOLIS—The important struggle with Michigan is a week from now. The greatest concern of Minnesota coaches is to expect the team will have little trouble defeating Drake this Saturday.

STREILINGER IN PLAN TO STAGE BACKFIELD AGE, TITULAR SCRAP

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 9.—Captain Seth Strelinger, one of three California athletic commissioners today was still figuring to provide ways and means for Los Angeles to witness a Joe Dundee-Ace Hudkins welterweight championship fight after the "walkout" last Thursday night that cast echoes throughout the fight world.

While Charles Traug, another commissioner, has not publicly altered his contrary opinion to a restaging and Louis Almgren, chairman of the commission, maintains silence, Strelinger is working on a plan he emphatically endorsed last night.

Under the plan, which had its beginning at a conference last Sunday, Dick Donald, Dundee and Max Waxman, his manager, would post forfeits for the contest by tomorrow noon.

If the promoter fails to do his part and his certified check or $60,000 in cash is not placed in the hands of Tom Gallery, who runs fights for the Hollywood American Legion, or if Dundee and Waxman, who failed to show last time do not post $20,000, then the commission would be through with "peace plans" Strelinger said.

Ace Hudkins, who was in the ring and ready to go last Thursday, would be asked to put up $10,000.

Meanwhile City Prosecutor Dr. E. L. O'Key refused to sanction talk of another fight while he prepares to press charges of false advertising against Dundee, Waxman and Donald. The three men pleaded not guilty and come to trial December 2.

It was only a few hours after a Providence newspaper proved that Caldwell had played football as a Brown freshman four years ago the Yale Athletic association announced his ineligibility.

Bruce was Yale's brightest football star, a triple threat man counted on to carry the attack against Princeton. The Eli eleven, stunned at first by the blow, was encouraged by a gigantic student rally last night to carry on and win.

The rule under which Caldwell was declared ineligible is a dual agreement with Princeton and Harvard which went into effect in 1923. It debars any transfer student from representing Yale against Princeton or Harvard in any sport in which he represented his former college.

The Yale News in an editorial "The Letter of the Law," today said:

"In principle we welcome the disclosure. It is only its skillful timing at the eleventh hour before a contest between two or the oldest and most respected colleges of the country that we deplore."

Under the capable leadership of Coach Myron Witman, All-American quarterback from Dartmouth, 1903, the Boulder boys will tread on Trojan territory for the first time in the history of the two institutions and are bent on showing Southern California that they too play football in big-league style.

The lads from the silver state have not made the impression on football records this year to even compare with the Trojans but during the past few weeks have been playing a brand of ball superior to their last year's showing or even their early season showing of this fall. Nothing would please the Boulder mentor more than to upset Troy's anticipations of a clean slate before meeting Notre Dame November 26.

Southern California must of necessity point for the Washington State and the Notre Dame games not giving a world of time or attention to the Colorado invasion. They should defeat the visitors from the Rocky mountains but it will be his final decision although Bill Dugger will be hard to keep out of the lineup.

"Rug" Rust was not even in suit so he is hardly expected to play under any condition. He was being groomed to take one of the tackle assignments if he was needed.

The feature of the workout was the appearance of Bill Foote, Oosterbaan's chief assistant, in the role of "Torchy" Van Ornum, Pasadena's triple-threat halfback, who does most of the Bulldog passing and kicking. Foote ran all over the field, sometimes throwing short passes, sometimes long ones and once in a while running with the ball and he gave the varsity a terrible time for he can still pick 'em up and lay 'em down with alacrity.

Line Rusher Passer
Oller had his fast linemen bearing down on Foote and it was plain that he will attempt to stop the great Pasadena aerial attack by rushing the unprotective Van Ornum so that he will not have time to time his shots that have been so deadly against all other teams.

In preparing their surprise for Van Ornum, Poly must not forget, however, that they also must open Tom Mallory, All-Coast Prep league fullback, who is captain of the Bulldog eleven. Most of the Pasadena victories have been won on well-directed passes but this fellow Mallory can subject an opposing line to a lot of punishment and he must be watched as well as Van Ornum

UNITED STATES HAS HALF OF WORLD'S GOLD

By JOSEPH S. WASNEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Eighteen thousand tons of gold is locked in the treasures of all nations to back their currencies and the United States has half of this amount, treasury experts estimate.

The world's gold stock is about $9,000,000,000 and the United States has $4,581,000,000 in gold coin and bullion. The most gold in any one place in the world is at the government assay office, in New York City, where $2,000,000,000 worth reposes.

The second largest gold stock is held by the federal reserve bank, which has about $1,024,513,000.

Experts said that if this nation's wealth, estimated at $500,000,000, could be converted into gold, the bullion would weigh 1,000,000 tons and the national income of persons gainfully employed—$80,000,000 annually—would weigh 180,000 tons.

One million dollars gold weighs approximately two tons. On the assumption Henry Ford is worth a billion, his wealth converted into gold would require 2000 one-ton trucks to move it, the experts calculate.

The gold subject was brought up in the treasury as preparations were made for supplying banks with gold pieces for Christmas. Officials said there would be a sufficient supply of $250 gold pieces this year, but that larger gold coins would not be available for general distribution.

HERE AND THERE WITH LEGION MEN

* At a meeting of the executive committee last night it was voted to write Phil Dodson, state commander, a letter advising him that the post would not hold a meeting November 24, Thanksgiving day, and to invite him to attend a meeting of the organization on January 12. Dodson had announced that he would be here for the November 24 meeting.

A special meeting could be held in honor of the state commander, but members of the committee felt that because of the Thanksgiving period, the attendance would be small and therefore asked for a postponement.

Because Dodson is a former Santa Ana boy, special efforts will be made to have the meeting he attends one of the largest ever held by the Santa Ana post.

V. V. Tubbs, Santa Ana, sent his check to the post "to help the boys with their Armistice day celebration." Just one who has not forgotten there was a war ten years ago.

Wait until you see Bobby in his new chapeau. Bobby is to be drum major for the Santa Ana post's bugle and drum corps in the Armistice day parade at Fullerton and the headpiece alone will put Santa Ana on the map. It was made gratis by Olive Dualing at her shop on Broadway and the material was donated by a rabbit farm in Santa Ana.

Charles Van Wyk today instructed members of the post to wear white skirts, dark trousers, black bow ties and Legion caps when they go to Fullerton Friday. Santa Ana is working for the cup for the most men in line of march and uniformity of dress will make a real showing, he said.

Following a suggestion made by "Brock" Grouard, the post may make a little money renting auto stalls at the rear of the home. "Brock" has an idea that he can sell about six stalls monthly.

Attention was called by Grouard to the fact that ex-service men who have never obtained their adjusted compensation, or in other words, their paid up insurance policy from the government, must file application for it before January 1. Members of the post and other ex-service men can obtain blanks from Frank West, in the First National bank building. These policies are worth money to the ex-service man and his opportunity will be passed in a short time.

War veterans totaling 148,902 were allowed tax exemptions in California in 1927-28, their exemptions totaling $83,885,259, according to a report of the state board of equalization.

Don't forget the regular dinner meeting Thursday evening. Lots to be learned about the Armistice day parade at that time.

EL TORO

* EL TORO, Nov. 9.—Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Lee have named their baby daughter Betty Marie. Mrs. Lee is with her mother in Orange before returning to El Toro. Miss Mary Pierce has returned from Glendale and will be with her parents again.

Mrs. Bennie Osterman honored her husband on his half day recently with a surprise party. Bridge was played after Mr. Osterman realized that he was having a party. Miss Lillian Humphrey and Boyd Munger held high score and Mr. and Mrs. Willis Mitchell were consoled. The hostess served a two-course supper after the games. Mr. and Mrs. George Osterman were the other guests at the pleasant affair.

Miss Mae Smartz, George Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Osterman and Mr. and Mrs. George Osterman attended the wedding of Miss Ethel Osterman and Foster Prather in Santa Ana Sunday evening.

EXCHANGE CLUB NOMINATES FOR COMING BALLOT

Acting as program chairman for the first time since he became identified with the organization, Ed Pettitt yesterday presented a varied program at the meeting of the Santa Ana Exchange club closing his part of the hour with comments on "Education Week," which is being featured this week.

The world's gold stock is about $9,000,000,000 and the United States has $4,581,000,000 in gold coin and bullion. The most gold in any one place in the world is at the government assay office, in New York City, where $2,000,000,000 worth reposes.

Keeping the System So Clean
There Are No Body Odors

A lot of people who never have to take a laxative eat a candy cascara now and then. Do you know why?

They have found that cascara sweetens the whole system—brings an immaculacy of person that means everything. It prevents body chemistry from ever making one unconsciously offensive to others. And what a perfect regulator of the bowels!

Salt affects the lining of the bowels. Mineral oils leave a coating that the blood must carry off through the pores. How much better to cascararize the system and cause the bowels to expel everything that causes internal contraction! To say nothing of the cleaner, sweeter condition that lasts for days—a wholesome condition that makes the use of deodorants quite unnecessary.

January is a "dry" month! Men and women whose pants have brought on sluggishness often find that a cascara is splendid for children too, and they love the taste of this cardy laxative which every drugstore has for 10c and 25c.

"IT'S GLORIOUS to have no more dread of faulty elimination. And to know there can be no offense to perspiration, and no need to check if I would never be without the candy laxative."

was the second candidate.

The Kentucky election was marked by disturbances at Everett and Prestonsburg. One man was killed at each place in shootings centered around the balloting.

In Ohio, the Anti-Saloon league suffered its first defeat in the state in nine years when an enforcement measure, outlining new methods of handling prohibition cases, sponsored by the dry forces, was defeated by a majority of 300,000.

Main political interest centered in the New York election, involving Al Smith's policies, and in the election in Mississippi, where Theodore Bilbo, candidate for governor on the Democratic ticket, had incurred enmity of the Ku Klux Klan because of refusal to denounce Al Smith's candidacy for the presidency.

Bilbo Is Elected

Bilbo was elected practically without dissent, there being no strong opposition candidate.

In New York, Smith's victory on the policies outlined in a series of amendments was complete, particularly in the defeat by an estimated 450,000 margin of a proposal to change the term of office of the governor from two to four years with elections in presidential years.

In Pennsylvania, the power of the Republican organization seemed to have overpowered all opposition in decisive fashion. In Philadelphia the Vans machine piled up a plurality expected to reach 150,000 in favor of its candidate for mayor, Harry MacKay, over J.
Hampton Moore, independent.

In Pittsburgh, the organization which gains its inspiration from Andrew Mellon, secretary of the treasury, seemed to have fought to a draw the forces led by Charles McGovern, a Pinchot lieutenant over city commissionership.

Beck to Congress

Former solicitor General Beck, Republican, was elected to congress in Philadelphia.

Reading, Pa., elected an entire Socialist ticket for city offices.

In Harrisburg, where Vance Mc-Cormick, former Democratic national chairman, led a fight against

Racing Interests Appear To Have Won Battle

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 9.—Racing interests in Kentucky appeared today to have won their biggest political battle, with incomplete unofficial returns indicating that Flem D. Sampson, Republican, had defeated J. C. W.
Beckham, Democrat, for governor.

Beckham, former governor and congressman, had campaigned on a platform opposing part mutual betting on horse racing.

Two men lost their lives in election disturbances in Kentucky.

Gill Lewis, 30, a candidate for city council at Everett, Harlan county, was shot and killed in a dispute with Will Gibson, 45. Floyd Lewis, the victim's brother, was wounded in the fight.

Lindsey Clark, 30, was shot and

MISSING MAN MAY BE MURDER VICTIM

The body of a man found in Hollenbeck park, Los Angeles, this morning may be that of Oscar Staudt, of San Antonio, Texas, who has been missing since last Tuesday, according to word from Los Angeles today. Staudt, who had been visiting a daughter, Mrs. William Kramm, of 721 South Los Angeles street, Anaheim, left last week to visit another daughter in Los Angeles and has not been seen since.

Because of the fact that Staudt carried a large sum of money, relatives fear that he may have met with foul play.

tured as we are this evening."

"The act on your part of passing this important and to many, very questionable procedure, over the remonstrance of a very considerable portion of the city's taxpayers; the very evident disregard for the wishes of others that the matter be given more thoughtful and intelligent consideration—in fact, the undoubted rushing of the matter to a conclusion, after those rightfully interested had left the meeting considering it safe to rest on your recorded word—this we feel places you in an unpleasant light."

"The Civic league representing as it does, a considerable portion of the voters of the city, would have appreciated the courtesy of a chance to give such a far-reaching matter, serious and careful thought. The league feels that it, together with the rest of the body of voters is deserving of such consideration."

"And too, we regret greatly the expressed attitude of Councilman Wilkinson as indicated when he said
'As for the petitions—this board has received petitions before, and they make no difference in the matter. The people elected us to handle the business of the city and we do it to the best of our ability and it is up to us to decide.'

"The Woman's Civic league up to this time, has had confidence in its board of trustees, but when any man or group of men reach the point in their own thinking when they feel they can no longer lengthen anything from their fellow men and no longer give consideration to those who by virtue of the act of placing them in the position they hold, express in them confidence and trust—then, the time has come in measure at least, to question the wisdom of the former act."

"The League has been approached repeatedly with petitions and letters attacking our governing board of the city, with the request that we take action on the same;
we have been charged with indiscretion and connivance and many other things because we demanded the right to think for ourselves and the right to refuse to openly or covertly express a lack of confidence in our board of trustees."

"But the gentlemen of the board
do not leave us much choice now, do they? Mr. Modjeska's flagrant disregard of both his chairman's wishes and those of the people present when he insisted on placing a motion to accept the lease without further discussion or consideration; the rushing of the thing through the small hours of the morning over the chairman's wishes, these things are difficult of explanation."

"The Women's Civic league of Newport Beach, therefore, meeting in regular session this afternoon, have dictated the above letter, as the sense of the meeting, the same to be spread upon the minutes of their meeting, and a copy of the letter sent to the board of trustees, the local and county newspapers and the chamber of commerce.

160 EMPLOYED AT FULLERTON TOMATO PLANT

FULLERTON, Nov. 9.—With the rush at the Cutler-Lobring cannery unabated, it has been estimated by the manager, H. L. Dalby, that the season's output will reach 2,500,000 cans.

Although the recent rain and hot weather which followed damaged the tomato crop, it is expected that the cannery will continue operations for about two weeks, according to Dalby.

More than 160 persons are employed in the 10-hour shift required to keep the plant from being submerged beneath the rush of tomatoes from the fields. Trucks are lined up at the receiving scales all day long and from 75 to 90 tons of fruit are being brought in, it was said.

The total for the season will fall short of the growers' expectations as a result of the early rains. Packers and growers are watching closely to determine if blight conditions, traceable directly to the rain and subsequent hot weather, will be overcome in time to avoid more serious damage to the present season's crop.

ARMITAGE RESIGNS AS H. B. DELEGATE

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 9.—J. A. Armitage resigned as delegate to the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange County at the regular weekly meeting of the Huntington Beach chamber of commerce yesterday. Armitage gave as his reason the fact that his time was fully occupied with the Sunset Beach chamber of commerce, of which he is secretary. Charles Boster was appointed as delegate in place of Armitage.

Mr. Manderville reported that 18 Huntington Beach citizens would attend the meeting of the Orange County Coast association at Laguna Beach the evening of November 10.

Judge Chris Pann outlined the program to be given at the dinner to be given in the city auditorium November 18. The members of the Huntington Beach Ladies' auxiliary will prepare and serve the dinner.

Oil Workers Get $20,000 In H. B. Claims

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 9.—Judge Pann's court at Huntington Beach has seen about $20,000 paid to oil workers since the new state law became effective making the non-payment of wages a misdemeanor or a felony, depending on the size of the wage claim. Amounts over $250 are considered as constituting a felony.

A number of suits are pending in Judge Pann's court against "fly by night" and shoe-string operators who have employed oil workers and failed to pay their wages. It is thought that this practice will cease with the enforcement of the new law.

WATER SYSTEM HISTORY TOLD BY ENGINEER

ANAHEIM, Nov. 9.—Tracing the history of irrigating systems, Paul Bailey, Orange county water conservation expert, addressed members of the Anaheim Farm center at the high school last night.

Advances of present irrigating systems over those in use years ago were cited by Bailey in his talk. The necessity for conservation of water in Orange county was told by the engineer.

Bailey, who was appointed by the county supervisors to direct the county's water program, told of his surveys to date.

George Vandenberg, president of the center, presided.

Because the Pacific Electric has discontinued its night service on the Yorba Linda line, residents feel that additional transportation service is a necessity.

FULLERTON PACKS 2000 BOXES PERSIMMONS DAILY; 7 CARS ON WAY TO MARKET

FULLERTON, Nov. 9.—The peak in persimmon shipments from Fullerton and other points in Orange county was reached today with seven cars on the road to northern and eastern markets.

The output at the Fullerton packing house is reaching approximately 2000 boxes daily. Twelve pound boxes are being used, which represents a production of about 12 tons each day. Forty-five employees are kept working at top speed to keep up with the rush of fruit.

The officials of the newly formed Central Orange County Persimmon association, with the president, J. M. Alcorn, have been maintaining a close inspection of all phases of the various methods used, and the results of this year's pack are expected to provide a basis for a definite packing program, with special persimmon machinery.

While much fruit has been sent to Seattle, New York and Chicago, even more has been placed on the Los Angeles market and in cold storage there.

It is expected that the attractive pack, together with the large size of the California persimmons, will prove particularly popular in the eastern market.

100 PRESENT AT FULLERTON P.-T.A. SESSION

FULLERTON, Nov. 9.—With more than 100 women in attendance, the conference of the fourth district P.T.A. was held at the Christian church here yesterday.

Mrs. George Tilton, of San Bernardino, fourth state vice president, presided.

"Although every woman's organization in the state has included child welfare among its objectives, the fact remains that the Parent-Teacher association alone makes child welfare its one and only purpose," declared Mrs. Earl Morris, of Santa Ana, in the main address of the day.

The visitors were welcomed by L. O. Culp, vice principal of the Fullerton union high school, who extended personal greetings and those of Principal Louis E. Plumley. Miss Ruth Tilton, of the Fullerton union high school faculty, led community singing.

The afternoon's session was featured by the address of Mrs. Susan Dorsey, superintendent of the Los Angeles city schools. The theme of her address was "Mastery of Tools and Technique of Learning."

The streets included in the plan are Mermaid from First to Third streets (its entire length). Second street from Forest avenue to Mermaid, and Third street from Forest avenue to Park avenue.

These streets had previously been considered as part of improvement district plans made public some months ago, but are now to be made a separate district with different style of improvements, according to those sponsoring the present agitation.

The principal point involved is the cutting through of Third street to Park avenue, giving a new avenue of access to the school house. It is claimed by those who have worked out the plan that Third street can be continued up the hill at comparatively little cost and with only a minor grade.

The improvements contemplated include curbs and walks and macadam streets, with gutters, it is said. Grades have already been established in this section, according to the city engineer. Improvement of two alleys is a part of the schedule.

About 180 lots are in the district, but it is thought that less than 100 property owners are concerned. Many have given their signatures and others have made provisional promise. Some live out of town and there will be delay in communicating with them.

The improvement district will not be considered by the city council unless 51 per cent of the frontage is signed up.

One of the arguments advanced is that dirt removed in making the cut can be used close at hand. The haul is all down hill.

If it's photographic, we do it.

THE MAKING OF A NEWSPAPER

The wonderful story of the evolution of the modern daily newspaper goes back to the days when men carved pictures and signs on bones and wood and bark and stone. Then they made bricks of clay and stamped inscriptions on them. Then they carved their hieroglyphics on the walls of temples.

The Egyptians probably were the first people to invent a kind of paper. They called it papyrus from the name of the bulrush used to make it.

We really owe our modern paper to the ingenious Chinese. Originally the Chinese wrote on bamboo boards or a tissue of silk.

The first paper the Chinese made was from the bark of the mulberry tree—the tree that silkworms feed on. The oldest paper document known dates back to about a hundred years after Christ. For seven hundred years, however, China was little known to Europeans, and it was by accident that paper-making found its way to Europe.

The Woman's Day

Lita Grey Chaplin, divorced wife of Charlie Chaplin, shook hands with President Cal a few days ago and reassured the great minds of the nation by pronouncing him "a swell guy," so report has it. It seems, however, that since the nation's most enlightened divorcee was only one in the line of everyday handshakers, and since the former senator who presented her was a bit overwhelmed at the responsibility, President Cal, when pressed for an opinion about his new handshaker, indicated that he hardly realized he was in The Presence. In light of that "swell guy" epithet, one forgives Charlie everything!

Hooray Fanny!

Whether Frances W. Grayson does or does not successfully cross the Atlantic in her plane, I'm inclined to give her a hand as perhaps the most courageous of any woman who has attempted to win the title as First Woman to Fly Across the Atlantic. For it's one thing to grit one's teeth, hop into a plane, and go to it, not knowing just what is in store for one, and it's quite another thing to start out for the fourth time, after three samples of just what it means.

We American women can't feel dressed up at all without our makeup. But I hear that Japanese damsels look askance upon a curl of any kind because curly hair is regarded as a sign of mixed blood, hence inferiority. Which proves again that manners, beauty ideas and morals are all a matter of geography.

WHAT PRICE BEAUTY?
Speaking of beauty, latest estimates say that $40,000,000 was spent in this country on beauty last year by 60,000,000 customers; that there are 30,000 beauty shops with 170,000 employees and 135 training schools turning out 2000 graduates a year.

"Women of a generation whose total indebtedness to beauty was a little pilfered cornstarch for powder and some beet juice for rouge, are inclined to scoff at today's woman's extravagance when they read figures like the above. I wonder if it ever occurred to them to balance this beauty figure with today's woman's earnings and then balance that figure with yesterday's woman's earnings? Today's woman earns her beauty and a lot more, too!"

MAMA'S SPANKED

Mothers with too much mother love were assailed at the recent conference on temper and emotion at Wittenberg College. A paper sent by the famous psycho-analyst, Dr. Alfred Adler of Vienna, spanked these mothers. He said—

"Mothers who concentrate upon themselves the developing social feeling of their children which should be spread out, are a hazard to their children's happiness. The wise mother spreads the child's interest to other persons and situations."

Maternal love, as I have often said, is one of the most selfish instinct of humanity. It takes a brave and strong mother to thwart this instinct for the good of her child. Any animal can surfeit its young with over-devotion.

NASTY-NICE!

Bathing beauties will no longer delight our eye if the International Purity Congress in solemn convention assembled has its way. A resolution from that body declares that "the public exhibition of young women clad only in bathing suits constitutes a social menace."

fan model of Nile green taffeta. It has unbelievable fullness concentrated on the hips in shirred rosettes which are centered by huge rhinestone discs. These voluminous side paniers fall fully five inches below the front and back but as the skirt is cut all in one piece, the skirt ripples to uneven lengths all around the debuteantes dances.

The neckline is softened daintily by a chiffon yoke of matching tone, edged with the taffeta. The severity of the bodice is also softened by a center disc of rhinestone, with taffeta streamers.

Fascinating is the next gown, a "coming out" gown that, in their color and characteristics are symbolic of life's Springtime. Crisp, fresh materials. Clear colors. This season one is blessed. There are taffetas, either one-toned, degrade or changeable and shot with gold or silver, moire which has more sturdiness than plain taffeta but the additional charm of subtle shade changes, and chiffons ever dainty rippled.

While I use velvet for wraps almost entirely, I feel that it has a certain decadent sophistication about it that makes it a less desirable medium for the debutante gown than lace.

Practically all clear colors are good for the debutante. I dislike the deepest shades, reserving them for the young girl's use when she has come to woman's estate. For I think the debutante's gown should above all things seem girlishly fresh and pleated.

This season the bouffant gown is the favorite for debutantes. Of course it is primarily a gown of youth—a gown that sets off the slender figure and emphasizes every speck of daintiness its wearer has.

I give today three of the most beautiful imports designed for the debutante.

First there is the ethereal little chiffon for the dainty miss who is small and plump looking. This creation by Lelong combines the French sleeveless dinner jacket with the fluffiness of sheer, penetrating lovely chartreuse chiffon.

The bodice is girlishly simple, with its modest rounded neck and over it is the chartreuse Lyons velvet jacket studded with rhinestones. It fastens with a rhinestone disc. The very full skirt cascades to an uneven hemline with the front much shorter than the back.

PRATICALLY ALL CLEAR COLORS ARE GOOD FOR THE DEBUTANTE. I DISLIKE THE DEEPEST SHADES, RESERVING THEM FOR THE YOUNG GIRL'S USE WHEN SHE HAS COME TO WOMAN'S ESTATE. FOR I THINK THE DEBUTANTE'S GOWN SHOULD ABOVE ALL THINGS SEEM GIRLISHLY FRESH AND PLEATED.

THIS SEASON THE BOUFFANT GOWN IS THE FAVORITE FOR DEBUTANTES. OF COURSE IT IS PRIMARILY A GOWN OF YOUTH—A GOWN THAT SETS OFF THE SLENDER FIGURE AND EMPHASIZES EVERY SPECK OF DAINTINESS ITS WEARER HAS.

I GIVE TODAY THREE OF THE MOST BEAUTIFUL IMPORTS DESIGNED FOR THE DEBUTANTE.

FIRST THERE IS THE ETHERAL LITTLE CHIFFON FOR THE DAINTY MISS WHO IS SMALL AND PLUMP LOOKING. THIS CREATION BY LELONG COMBINES THE FRENCH SLEEVELESS DINNER JACKET WITH THE FLUFFINESS OF SHEER, PENETRATING LOVELY CHARTREUSE CHIFFON.

THE BODICE IS GIRLISHLY SIMPLE, WITH ITS MODEST ROUND NECK AND OVER IT IS THE CHARTREUSE LYONS VELVET JACKET STUDDED WITH RHINESTONES.

IT FASTENS WITH A RHINESTONE DISC. THE VERY FULL SKIRT CASCADES TO AN UNLEVEL HEMLINE WITH THE FRONT MUCH SHORTER THAN THE BACK.

Happily Celebrates
Fathers' Night

Declaring that the problems of discipline that faced him as a teacher in the district schools of a number of years ago, had been solved by the system of physical training observed in the schools of today, J. Frank Burke, editor of the Santa Ana Register, held the close attention of members and guests of Julia Lathrop P.-T. A., gathered last night at that junior high school for the annual celebration of Fathers' Night.

Mr. Burke as principal speaker, opened his talk by commenting on the splendid architecture of California's schools, and their equally well-chosen teaching staffs, declaring that they undoubtedly had a pronounced effect on the character of the state as a whole. The teachers' moral standing is second only to that of ministers, he stated, and their influence is one of the greatest factors in the advance and development of the country.

Character development is aided by the association of children in school groups, and such development is fully as important as the educational development. The speaker compared school conditions of today, with those of his own teaching days, when, with 13 pupils under him in district school, he had 97 classes each day.

The talk and its accompanying musical program, followed an enjoyable dinner served in the school cafeteria. The program opened with prayer by the Rev. W. H. McPeak, pastor of the United Presbyterian church. Musical numbers included "Activity March" by Bennett, and "Bright Star" (Bennett) by the Julia Lathrop orchestra led by S. J. Mustol. The orchestra also accompanied the various songs offered in greeting to the special guests, introduced by the P.-T. A. president, Mrs. H. J. Lamb.

These guests included J. A. Cranston, city superintendent of schools; Mrs. G. N. Greer, former president of Julia Lathrop P.-T. A.; Mrs. J. V. Kelsey of the county P.-T. A. organization; Mrs. J. Dick Wilson of the board of education; H. G. Nelson, principal of the school; Mrs. W. B. Tedford of the probation committee; and three fathers prominent in the association, L. L. Beeman, Charles M. Best and Roland O. Dye. Brief but interesting talks were given by a number of these guests, and Supt. Nelson followed his introduction by introducing all the teachers of the school, each of whom was presented with a bouquet of choice flowers.

Chief among the various greeting songs that were sung, was the Julia Lathrop Boost song, words of which were written by Mrs. Greer, and music by S. J. Mustol, head of the orchestra department of the city schools.

When You Catch Cold
Rub on Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply and works right away! It may prevent a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, corns, bunions, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frostbitten feet—colds of all sorts.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

ABLY DISCUSSED BY SPEAKER

Mr. George Baxter of 606 South Main street was pleasantly surprised recently when a group of friends gathered at his home to aid in the celebration of his eighty-second birthday. Answering the doorbell late Saturday afternoon, Mr. Baxter found a group of friends awaiting him, each carrying a basket in which was a portion of the delicious dinner to be served later in the evening.

Following the dinner guests enjoyed themselves in playing several interesting games and in lively conversation.

CAPISTRANO Y. L. I.

Miss Agnes Lieberman was presented with a beautiful ring at last night's meeting of Capistrano Institute, Y. L. I., held in K. C. hall. Miss Lieberman won the ring through a contest in which funds were raised for the rebuilding of the mission at San Juan Capistrano.

Plans were announced for entertaining the grand president, Florentine Schaag, who will make her official visit to the local order November 29, when a meeting will be held in K. C. hall.

Dainty refreshments were served after the business meeting by the hostess committee headed by Mrs. Lydia Strain.

FATHERS AND SONS
AT ANNUAL DINNER

W. R. Litzenberg, of Pasadena, last night addressed fathers and sons at the First Baptist church in Santa Ana at the annual Father and Son banquet of the church. The banquet was sponsored by the Men's Club of the church. Litzenberg spoke on the subject, "Dads, Dollars and Destinies." More than 90 men and boys were present at the banquet.

Following the address of the evening a program presenting a number of Santa Ana's talented musicians was presented. Miss Laura Joiner and Miss Lorene Croddy contributed several vocal selections accompanied at the piano by Miss Mildred Marchant. Chorus numbers were sung by the men and boys who were accompanied by E. M. "Sunny" Sundquist. The Sunday school orchestra of the church also rendered several numbers. A. G. Tucker arranged the program and Elmer Steffensen acted as chairman of the meeting. Mrs. A. W. Chapman was in charge of the preparation of the banquet. She was assisted by a number of young women of the church.

PUT IN P. O. LOBBY

Today an outline map, showing the rural routes running from the Santa Ana post office, was placed in the lobby of the post office.

"By this map," said Postmaster T. E. Stephenson, "box numbers on rural routes can be located easily. Our office found that hardly a day went by without from one to eight or 10 inquiries made as to the location of rural boxes. It seems, for instance, that Aunt Mary writing to her niece in Los Angeles would be forced to give the box number. That information was had by the post office only. With the posting of the map, the information can be obtained easily in the lobby of the post office."

HOME ENTERED AND JEWELRY STOLEN

Taking advantage of the fact that members of the family were away from home, burglars last night entered the home of Mrs. Elisa Bohling, 409 West Eighth street and escaped with several pieces of jewelry, according to a report filed with the city police.

Entrance into the home was made with a skeleton key, used on the front door, in the opinion of Officer E. E. Perry, who made an investigation.

Among the articles reported stolen was a filigree pin, a gold bar pin, a horseshoe pin of gold, a cameo pin, pair of ear bobs with blue sets, a string of beads and about 5 cents in cash, taken from a purse.

Neighbors reported to officers that they heard noises in the house about 7 o'clock last night.

Honoree at Dinner
In Lemon House

An enjoyable pot-luck dinner was held yesterday at mid-day, by the tenor graders of the Golden West Packing house of Tustin, in celebration of the close of the packing season, and also as a compliment to Mrs. Bert Runnels, who will leave soon for San Juan Capistrano where she and Mr. Runnels will make their home.

Mrs. Runnels was formerly Miss Esther Brader of Tustin, and her wedding to the son of R. R. Runnels, assistant manager of the Central Lemon association, was an event of much interest in the early autumn.

Enjoying the occasion with Mrs. Runnels were the Misses Lola Storm, Henrietta Sheffer, Esther Meadows, Mrs. Patsy Prather, Mrs. William Kuykendall, Mrs. Bessie Maxey, and Messrs. Forrest Collier, Albert Dublin and Al Thiery.

W. C. T. U.

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held in the First Methodist church yesterday afternoon with a good attendance of members present. Mrs. Thomas Vance, second vice president, presided as the president, Mrs. Amy Evans, was ill and not able to be present.

Mrs. Sarah Hutchins led an impromptu devotional service on the subject of "Love and Service." Mrs. Blanch Roepke very beautifully sang "Open the Gates of the Temple," with Mrs. Mary Hoffman as accompanist. The subject for the afternoon was "Soldiers and Sailors" and was in charge of Mrs. Laura Leonard. An excellent address was given by the Rev. George Warmer, pastor of the First Methodist church, on the subject.

C. Russell of this city is registered at the Hotel Del Monte, Del Monte, where he is attending the annual meeting of the Crane company in session there this week.

A. H. Paterson of 523 East Chestnut avenue is reported to be improving rapidly from an illness of several weeks' duration.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mason of 1704 West Ninth street have as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Batesole of Marshalltown, Ia., and Mrs. Matie Clay of Hampton, Ia., who will spend the winter in California. Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Clay and Mr. Batesole are sisters and brother. Hosts and guests were among last night's interested callers at The Register's "Open House."

PROMOTION GUIDES

"Children that are forced to repeat their first grade work, have not had the foundation of kindergarten training as a rule," Miss Greenwood declared. "They should never be promoted on an age basis alone, but mental readiness, physical health and a teacher's knowledge and judgment of the child should always be taken into consideration.

"Every child should live up to his natural capacity. He should never be forced in mental work, for that produces the bad habit of listlessness. A child may not be dull but may be forced into work too hard and advanced, and as a result, be unfairly labeled stupid, because he fails.

"Modern parents and teachers are wiser to childish needs today, and bring the nursery school idea to bear on their problems with the result that each child is given the opportunity to develop according to his inclination, and the sad child is made happy, the happy child, is made happier, by being given their chance."

LOS ALAMITOS

LOS ALAMITOS, Nov. 9.—Charles Anderson, of Katella street, is still in the Community hospital recovering from a nervous breakdown.

A happy reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Armfield, of Howard street, formerly of Rhode Island, celebrating the first anniversary of the arrival here of Mrs. Armfield's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Alden, of Lakewood, Rhode Island. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Alden and three daughters: June, Priscilla and Geraldine, of Cromwell, Conn.; Herman Dodin, Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Reid and daughter, Barbara, of Los Angeles; Louis Alden, Mrs. Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alden.

The regular meeting of the Peoples Christian Endeavor society was held Sunday evening with Louise Amspoker as leader. A solo was given by Mrs. Ethel Amspoker, with Mrs. Hazel Campbell as pianist. The Lindbergh team is still in the lead and it is expected that a party will be given in honor of the Lindbergh team if the Chamberlain track, that ranchers have dispensed with all surplus workers.

And they were prepared—these residents of Larimer street.

During the summer the pawn shop owners, the dispensers of chili con carne, the "floy-house" proprietors and the purveyors of illicit refreshments whose places of business line Larimer street, have none too many customers.

"Just bums," that's all we have in the summer time," declared the bearded owner of the street's most pretentious pawn shop. "But in the winter—ah." He rubbed his hands. It is in the winter that Larimer street makes its money, attending to the needs of the thousands of itinerant laborers who, after a summer of work, come to Denver for the winter, to rest.

One building in the street bore the sign "The Hotel—". But the rest of the sign was obliterated from years of swinging in the wind. "It might have read "Palace," or "Palatial," or perhaps it may have been merely "Peter."

It didn't make much difference. Its guests were not interested in names. They concentrated their attention on the fact that beds cost 25 cents a night with "special weekly and monthly rates."

Section 4. That any person violating the provisions of this ordinance and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) or by imprisonment in the County Jail of the County of Orange for a term not exceeding thirty (30) days by both such fine and imprisonment.

Section 5. That all ordinances or parts of ordinances or parts of this ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) or by imprisonment in the County Jail of the County of Orange for a term not exceeding thirty (30) days by both such fine and imprisonment.

Section 6. That any person violating the provisions of this ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) or by imprisonment in the County Jail of the County of Orange for a term not exceeding thirty (30) days by both such fine and imprisonment.

Section 7. That the City Clerk shall certify to the passage of this ordinance and cause the same to be published three times in the Daily Evening Register, a daily newspaper printed, published and generally circulated in the City of Santa Ana, California, and the same shall take effect and be in force thirty (30) days from the date of its final passage.

The foregoing ordinance is signed and approved by this 7th day of November, 1927.

SUMMER WORKERS APPEAR FOR WINTER IN DENVER'S BOWERY, MERCHANTS TO REAP HARVEST

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 9.—Larimer street, Denver, famous thoroughfare, today proclaimed the advent of winter in the Rocky Mountains.

The sun was shining upon Larimer street's cobble stones. A lazy fly adhered to the window of a sketchy establishment where, according to chalked sign, "good soup" could be obtained for five cents.

It wasn't cold on Larimer street. The wind didn't scream. Winter, to the casual observer, seemed far away.

But the denizens of Larimer street knew better.

They knew that in the mountains back of Denver snow is falling, wind is howling, roads are blocked and streams are frozen over. They knew that mines have stopped construction work, that railroads have ceased ballasting track, that ranchers have dispensed with all surplus workers.

And they were prepared—these residents of Larimer street.

During the summer the pawn shop owners, the dispensers of chili con carne, the "floy-house" proprietors and the purveyors of illicit refreshments whose places of business line Larimer street, have none too many customers.

"Just bums," that's all we have in the summer time," declared the bearded owner of the street's most pretentious pawn shop. "But in the winter—ah." He rubbed his hands. It is in the winter that Larimer street makes its money, attending to the needs of the thousands of itinerant laborers who, after a summer of work, come to Denver for the winter, to rest.

One building in the street bore the sign "The Hotel—". But the rest of the sign was obliterated from years of swinging in the wind. "It might have read "Palace," or "Palatial," or perhaps it may have been merely "Peter."

It didn't make much difference. Its guests were not interested in names. They concentrated their attention on the fact that beds cost 25 cents a night with "special weekly and monthly rates."

THE COMMUNITY NEWSPAPER

Ben Read, the very popular and efficient secretary-manager of the California Publishers' Association, talked to the Redlands Rotary Club the other day about "The Community Newspaper," wherupon the "Facts," Redlands' most excellent and only "community newspaper," commented editorially.

Very pertinently and practically, Mr. Read developed the idea of what a newspaper has as its community burden and what the people owe to the newspaper, that it may the better serve them and the town. He emphasized, among other points, the part the home newspaper plays as a factory, with its pay roll, Chambers of commerce and various other commerce inducing bodies spend considerable sums in efforts to get into the community enterprises with pay rolls, and it is a laudable effort. But sometimes, even often, they forget entirely the pay rolls they have, and among them that of the newspaper. Parenthetically be it said that no complaint on this score can justly be made against the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce.

The Register, for instance, pays out over $3500 a week in real money to its employees—in excess of $182,000 a year. And these employees get their money once a week or once a month in real, hard cash. It is nearly all spent right here in Santa Ana. The thought that perhaps it is the duty, even the privilege, of all citizens to help make certain and strong such a contribution to the local business field, was brought forcibly to the attention of the Redlands Rotarians.

"It has been a matter of evolution, this growth of the newspaper into a real business institution, out of the haphazard thing it once was," the Facts said, in commenting on Mr. Read's address, "but that development has meant success for the community, a progress that cannot be estimated. The people are learning that matters which mean business—money making—to them, when given publicity in the paper must be paid for, that the paper may meet its pay roll and other large expenses."

This is a matter of education. The people of Santa Ana have been most generous with their support of the local paper. For many years it has enjoyed prosperity and its owners, both of the past and of the present, have taken pleasure in reflecting that prosperity back into added mechanical equipment and news service that have made for a bigger and better Register, and, we believe, a bigger and better city and county. These things we have in mind ever. Plans are now in execution and in the making which will better The Register, and the only thing necessary to bring about those in the making is that patronage which will justify the added expense.

The Register ever has and ever will try to keep just a jump or two ahead of the community in its onward progress.

RE-VALUEING OUR HEROES

There is a persistent tendency among the later historians to revalue our world heroes. Emil Ludwig, the German historian, who has given us the very best lives of Napoleon and the late Kaiser of the German people, in writing on Bismarck recently, has said that no hero is quite as great as his country willed him to be. He ceases to be a human being. He is lifted into the sphere of the demi-god. And Ludwig claims that such legendary valuations are neither just to the hero nor to the people at large. It is better to know that the heroes were made of human stuff, and acquired such influence and power as they had by virtue of gifts and powers that most of us possess, than that they should be portrayed as supernmen wrapped up in the solitude of their own originality.

Rupert Hughes has recently taken the high polish from George Washington, and he has been furiously criticised for it. Jesse Weik has written a "real" life of Lincoln, and Lincoln emerges more of a human than most of us have ever thought him to be. Lytton Strachey has given us an entirely new portrait of Queen Victoria. It is not quite so attractive as those drawn by her flatterers and admirers, but we must believe that it is truer to life. James Truslow Adams has been re-evaluating our whole early national history, and many of our historic idols are found to have had feet of clay.

This is very repugnant to those who have thrown a glamor upon the past, and to those who cannot seem to see that there is no heroism and no nobility of the past which is not being repeated right now in our own generation. They forget that "time makes ancient good uncouth," and that more glorious achievements are ahead of us than behind us. It is well to have our idols. The man who loves to shatter our illusions simply to see us squirm is no public benefactor. But the blind worship of something or somebody that has past often needs a shock. It is very apt to kill initiative on the part of the idolators. It is apt to make them think that the fight is over, and that there is not much worth while except to live over our memories.

In all these revaluations of the past, two considerations are worthy of attention. The first is, the new valuation truer than the old. The second is, the revaluation in the interest of a better understanding of history. When Thomas Carlyle redeemed the character of Oliver Cromwell from obloquy and disgrace by the publication of the letters of the great Protector, he did not only a great service for the memory of the man who made England great and respected in his age, but he revealed to an ignorant world the great forces which explain Anglo-Saxon greatness. It must be remembered that it was only in the last century that history began to be written as it actually happened. Before that the historian was more of a propagandist and a special pleader than he was a chronicler of facts or a philosopher. Men like Ludwig and Strachey and James Truslow Adams, to mention only a few of the more constructive historians of the day, whether they desire it or not, deserve well of their generation for giving us the truth about our heroes and about the past, even though they shatter all our illusions.

"LOYAL TO THE CONSTITUTION"

A very common phase, much on the lips of certain of our citizens, but who think very lightly of certain parts of the Constitution. The Constitution is the expressed will of the people. It may be outgrown, as in some respects it has been outgrown. It may be amended, as it has been amended. But as it is, it is the supreme law of the land, and binding upon all until it be changed.

We rail about anarchists and communists, but what shall we say about those who rail at these, yet hold the same views with reference to certain parts of the Constitution. They make no bones about violating the Constitution for which they would have others imprisoned or deported. The people of this nation are called upon to face the most serious case of nullification that has ever existed in this land in the deliberate flouting of the eighteenth amendment. To agitate for change is legal and proper, but to flout the basic law of the land is treason.

Senator Borah is right when he insists that the time has come for both great political parties to come out and express themselves on a matter which makes the Constitution of the United States the butt of vaudeville jokers and the scorn of those who want to be known as respectable because they denounce anarchists and communists.

Planting Forests

Redlands Facts

There is a vast amount of waste and idle land that is yielding no profit, but which might be producing forests. Many of the states have arrangements for providing young trees at small costs to their landowners. The New Jersey department of conservation, for instance, has just been urging the citizens of that state to plant trees on such tracts, and it shows them how they can plant these seedlings for $10 a thousand.

Many people in California decline to plant trees on their idle ground, on the theory that they won't live long enough to see the trees mature. But land with a young grove or forest on it grows constantly more valuable. Purchasers would pay more for it in five or ten years, and as it grows it adds an element of beauty that makes any property more valuable.

There is also to be taken into consideration the fact that the forest plays an important part in the regulation of stream flow which has been brought out by scientific investigation over a great many years and in many parts of the world, and emphasized by Raphael Zon, director of the Lake States Forest Experiment Station of the Forest Service, United States Department of Agriculture.

The forests are not only an important factor in regulating streamflow, but also aid in modifying climate and the character of the soil, tending toward the improvement of water storage capacity of any watershed. These conclusions of Dr. Zon's regarding the relationship of forests and floods are of particular interest just now when ways and means of preventing flood waters are being given such wide consideration.

A Buffalo Hunt

Fresno Republican

Arizona has "too many buffalo."

This seems odd when we remember being told of the almost total destruction of this animal, of which there were once millions roaming over the western plains.

But as it is now the only place where bison survive is in localities where a few are preserved and where the pasture is limited. There is no room for millions, or even for thousands. The government, national or state, is glad to have the bison increase up to this limit, but can not permit them to go beyond, for they would starve or break out of range or cost too much to feed artificially.

Arizona has reached this limit in Coconino county. Fifteen buffaloes are to be shot by permission. Over 500 hunters have registered for a drawing. The fortunate ones will be permitted to go out in the last week of November and the first of December for their "hunt." Each will be rewarded with head and hide and meat. And the glory of telling about it.

Health Topics

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor of Journal of American Medical Association

FOOD CONTAMINATION IS FOUGHT CONSTANTLY

In the early part of the present century men suddenly discovered that food was being prepared without any reference to the possibility of danger to human life from contamination or from adulteration.

Then came the passage of the pure food law and intense research in laboratories all over the world to find out means of preservation that would be harmless and means of preparation that would aid digestion.

One of the most important points to realize is the necessity of using sound, fresh and clean raw products to begin with. Then contamination from shipping or handling must be absolutely controlled.

Food Handlers

In Newark, New Jersey, between 1920 and 1925, the number of 29,369 restaurant employees were examined by the health department and 2819 examined by private physicians. During the same period 6577 milk dealers were examined by the department and 2932 by private physicians. Of these the health department rejected 155 persons for tuberculosis and 45 for other diseases.

When the possibility of infection of others is considered the importance of the elimination of this considerable number of infected food handlers becomes apparent.

During the same time these persons were subjected to tests for the presence of diphtheria germs in the nose and throat and also to blood tests for the presence of typhoid fever.

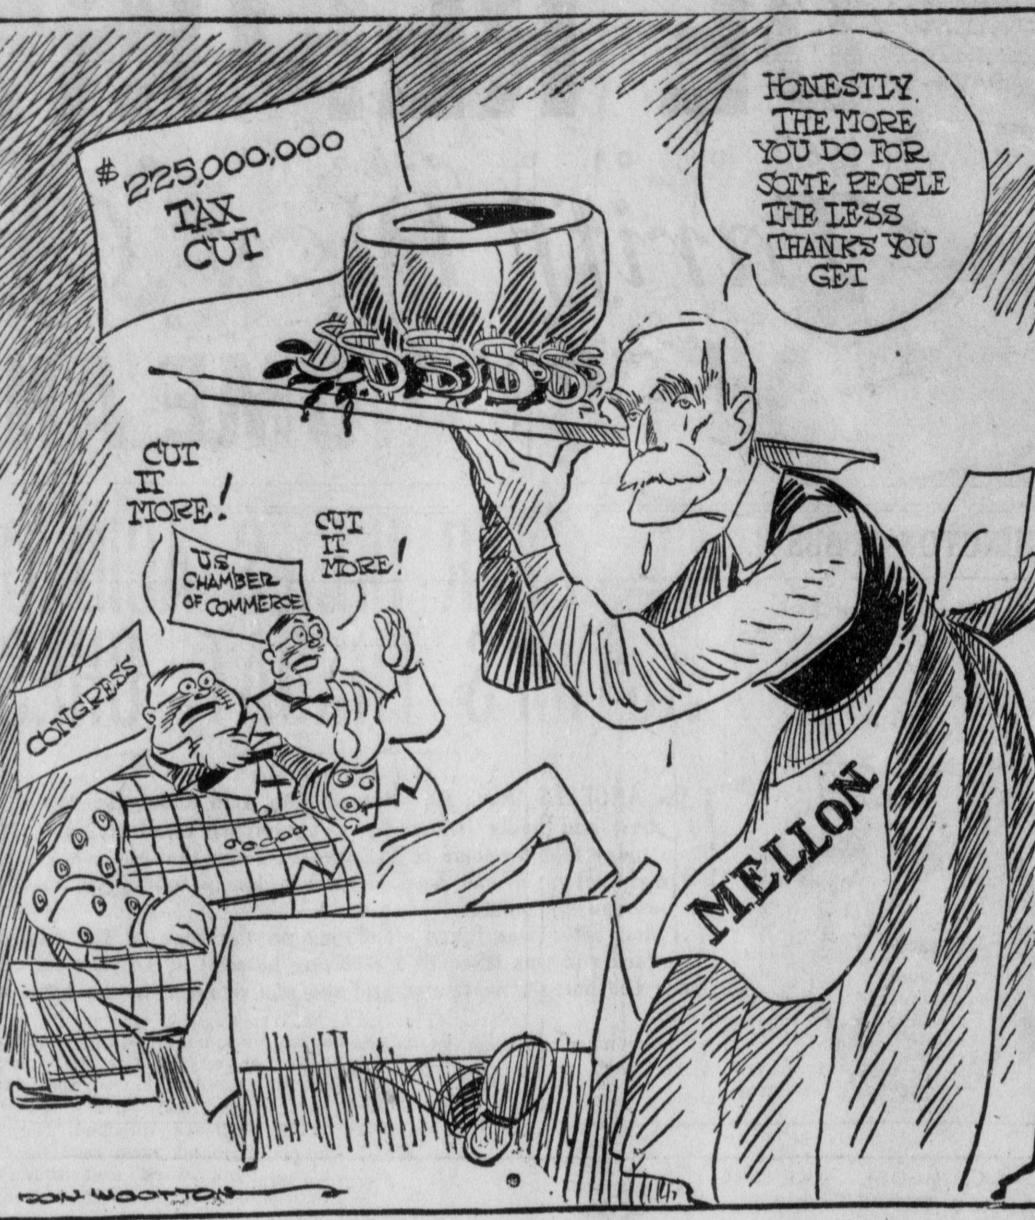

Since all the tests were negative these two forms of examination have been discontinued. Nevertheless the presence of diphtheria and of typhoid carriers among people is well-known, and it will probably be necessary to eliminate infected food handlers with these diseases through the report of recent infection with either of the two diseases concerned, or by the far more wasteful method of making examinations after disease begins to appear among the people served.

Making It Safe

It is a far cry from the day when Upton Sinclair's "The Jungle" started everyone in the world to looking upon meat with suspicion to this modern period when meat inspection, modern methods of refrigeration and shipping, and the control of food handlers make almost anything that can be purchased safe for human consumption.

The results are a legitimate return from the tribulations and anxieties of the period when Harvey Wiley, Ladd, Roosevelt and other pioneers made possible the legislation that controls conditions today.

It's a Hard Life

Just Folks

A MAN'S PLEA

I will bear what is mine to bear without whimper,
I will stand to my post till my duty be done.
Let the weakling and craven heart sniffler and simper
I'll face the day to the set of the sun.

For this is a man's life on earth I am living,
And anguish and pain are a part of its core.
Thought to the past it is vain to be giving,
And vain to be dreaming of what lies before.

Today is the time to be manly if ever,
Yesterday's loss may be changed into gain.
The task which is mine, must be done now or never
In spite of the headache, in spite of the rain.

Lord, in the face of the storms which beset me,
Teach me the calmness to do what I can;
Teach me, in spite of the trials which fret me
To live out my life on the earth as a man.

Ma was darned holes out of socks and pop was smoking behind the sporting page, and I took the blue bowl off of the mantelpiece and started to pretend I was the world's greatest juggler, saying, Ladies and gentlemen I will now balance this 500 pound wate on the extreme end of my nose with your kind attention.

With I started to pretend to do, holding it with my hands for safety first, only it must of looked pretty dangerous enways because jest then ma looked up and saw me and screeched a screech, saying, Benny Potts are you crazier than I thawt you were, put that back immeditely and believe me as soon as you get it out of your hands Im going to give you a good smack.

Take it easy, mother, pop sed. The first principal of child rearin is not to lose the well known temper. If you calmly point out to him the fact that the bowl is only valuable but fragile, I am sure he inherits enuff of my common sense to realize that he shouldnt of taken it, and it will be a lesson that will apply to the future as well as the present, in other words it will have practical value, he sed. With jest then I dropped the bowl on account of being so intrisit in wat pop was saying, ony luckily it didnt brake on account of dropping soft on pop foot, pop saying, Owtch, confound it to blazes, get away from heer, do you want to ruin me?

And he gave me a quick push in the face making me sit down backwards, ma saying, Hee hee, how about the well known temper and the inherited common sense, hee hee?

Who sed I lost my temper? pop sed. All I did was give the boy a little cool headed objection to make him a little careful, and now jest to prove it was all done in a spirit of loving kindness I will take him around to see the Kut Up Komedy at the Little Grand, he sed. With he did, being swell pay for one slyte push in the face.

CURRENT COMMENT

By CHESTER H. ROWELL

THE All-India Congress is discussing the vital matters of Indian unity. For the sake of harmony the Hindu leaders, a few years ago, promised the Moslems more than their share of the votes and offices and lower educational standards to enter the civil service. But it was found that these did not touch the real question. So now it is agreed that the Moslems may sacrifice cows, provided they do not do it too publicly, and that the Hindus may have their processions with religious music, provided they do not wantonly disturb the peace of the Mosques with it.

ONE more thing, of course, is still needed. That is that Hindus of one caste shall feel a bond of common interest with Hindus of another caste. Otherwise, how shall the low-caste man feel his rights more safe in the hands of Indian rulers who regard his very shadow as pollution than in the hands of British rulers, who at least despise them all equally. And then it will be necessary to bring the Indian peoples to care about government. If government is not important, what difference who does it? Meantime, in a country where cows are more sacred than people, where caste is more vital than citizenship, and temple rites more important than laws or justice—no wonder a few hundred Englishmen, who know exactly what they want, can rule three hundred million Indians, whose ideal is to want nothing.

JUDGE Lindsey, like a more famous theologian, can quote scripture to his purpose. So he comes back at the W. C. T. U., some of whom have been opposing him, by flinging Solomon at them: "Give strong drink unto him that is ready to perish and wine unto those that be of heavy hearts. Let him drink and forget his poverty, and rememb're misery no more."

IN THE same connection it is interesting to recall the story of why Russia became Christian. When St. Vladimir concluded that the heathenism of his people was behind the times, he sent emissaries out to investigate the civilized religions. The two they chiefly considered were Mohammedanism and Christianity. The gorgeous ceremonial of the Greek Church was a point in favor of Christianity, but the scale was turned by the fact that Mohammedanism was "dry" and Christianity was "wet." It is quite impossible, Vladimir explains in the Russian Chronicle, to be happy in Russia without strong drink. So he made war on the Christian Emperors, so as to receive their baptism as a conqueror rather than as a convert, and demanded their sister in Christian marriage. Thus Russia was Christianized on a beer and wine platform. It was ages later, before the Puritan part of the Christian world began to identify total abstinence with Christianity.

GERMAN schools report a great falling off in the study of Latin and Greek and a tendency to study English rather than French as a modern language. French, of course, must still be the language of diplomats and of those who attend international conferences, since everywhere except in the Pacific area French is the language of international intercourse. But English is the language of business, of travel, and of practical affairs. And the Germans are getting practical.

THE waning of Latin and Greek is perhaps
